

Our Solutions: Learning

Learning is a necessary and ongoing part of employee success, and the best professional development experiences go beyond the occasional job training.

Employees agree; 94% say that they would stay at a company longer if that company invested in learning opportunities (LinkedIn), and lack of advancement opportunities was their second-highest deciding factor for quitting a job in 2021 (Pew Research Center).

We believe that the strongest companies prioritize learning in the flow of work, and we excel at equipping talent with job-ready knowledge and expanding the potential of each person.

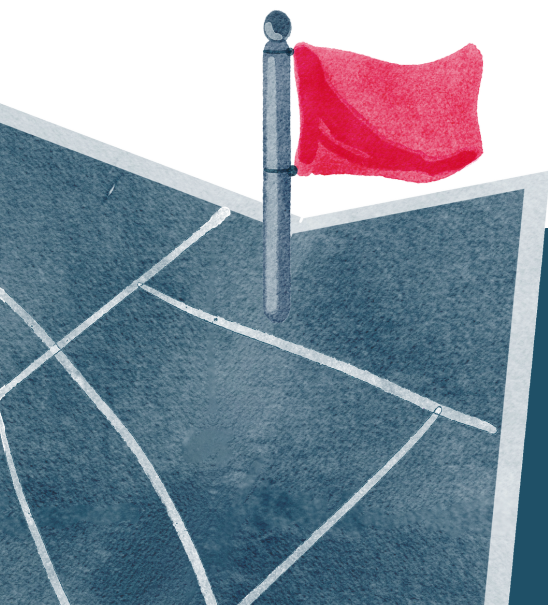

Our learning solutions are designed to empower your team to leverage their unique skills and talents, aligning their professional goals with the vision of your company.

With our human-centered and tech-enabled model, we create a high-touch L&D experience, boosting productivity by using technology to create effortless, personalized learning paths.

Synthology's unique talent lifecycle approach also supports the sustained growth of your employees at every step of their professional journey, fostering competence and confidence on your team's path towards success.

94%

Employees say that they would stay at a company longer if that company invested in learning opportunities

About Synthology

Founded in 2022 Synthology is a human-centered and tech-enabled talent strategy consulting firm. We help our clients unlock the human potential within their workforce by providing solutions across the talent spectrum – from Recruiting and Onboarding, Performance and Succession Management, Workforce Planning & Analytics, Learning and Leadership Development. Pending B-Corp status and Certified Women-Owned Business.

For more information visit synthology.co